

MEANINGFUL HELP FOR BETTER MENTAL HEALTH

The last two years of rolling lockdowns has meant the tsunami of disruption caused by COVID has left a secondary wave of mental health meltdowns in its wake.

With one in three psychologists reporting that demand for their services is so overwhelming they have had to close their books, a huge number of people in urgent need of help have been left out in the cold.

At Exisle we have a long history of publishing books that help us to help ourselves.
